007. Thorough Examination of Inflatables

The meeting of the Joint Advisory Committee for Health and Safety in the Fairground Industry (JAC) on 17 February 1992 expressed concern that many inflatables were in operation without certification. This matter was subsequently discussed by our Standards Committee on 6 March 1992.

We would draw your attention to the fact that the requirement for Thorough Examination applies to inflatables. Note also that there exists a Health and Safety Executive Guidance Note covering these devices which must be taken into account when examining this equipment.
